Promotional communications

The firm may use your personal data to send you updates (by email, text message, telephone or post) about legal developments that might be of interests to you and/or information about our services, including exclusive offers, promotions or new services.

We have a legitimate interest in processing your personal data for promotional purposes (see above 'How and why we use your personal data'). This means we do not usually need your consent to send you promotional communications. Where consent is needed, we will ask for this consent separately and clearly.

We will always treat your personal data with the utmost respect and never sell OR share it with other organisations for marketing purposes.

You have the right to opt out of receiving promotional communications at any time by: contacting us by sending an email to enquiries@rtcooperssolicitors.com to opt-out or by using the 'unsubscribe' link in emails.

We may ask you to confirm or update your marketing preferences if you instruct us to provide further services in the future, or if there are changes in the law, regulation, or the structure of our business.

Who we share your personal data with

We routinely share personal data with:

- Professional advisers who we instruct on your behalf or refer you to, example barristers, medical professionals, accountants, tax advisors or other experts;
- Other third parties where necessary to carry out your instructions, example, Companies House;
- Credit reference agencies;
- Our insurers and brokers;
- External auditors, example, in relation to ISO or Lexcel accreditation and the audit of our accounts;
- Our banks;
- External service suppliers, representatives and agents that we use to make our business more efficient, example, back up service providers, typing services, marketing agencies, document collation or analysis suppliers;

We only allow our service providers to handle your personal data if we are satisfied they take appropriate measures to protect your personal data. We also impose contractual obligations on service providers relating to ensure they can only use your personal data to provide services to us and to you.

We may disclose and exchange information with law enforcement agencies and regulatory bodies to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations.

We may also need to share some personal data with other parties, such as potential buyers of some or all of our business or during a re-structuring. Usually, information will be anonymised but this may not always be possible. The recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations.

Where your personal data is held

Information may be held at our offices and those of our third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents as described above (see 'Who we share your personal data with').

Some of these third parties may be based outside the UK. For more information, including on how we safeguard your personal data when this occurs, see below: 'Transferring your personal data out of the UK'.

How long your personal data will be kept

We will keep your personal data after we have finished advising or acting for you. We will do so for one of these reasons:

- To respond to any questions, complaints or claims made by you or on your behalf;
- To show that we treated you fairly;
- To keep records required by law.

We will not retain your data for longer than necessary for the purposes set out in this policy. We hold client data for 7 years and then we destroy such data. Any other data for 2 years and then we destroy such data.

When it is no longer necessary to retain your personal data, we will delete or anonymise it.

Transferring your personal data out of the UK

To deliver services to you, it is sometimes necessary for us to share your personal data outside the UK:

- With associates outside the UK;
- With your and our service providers located outside the UK;
- If you are based outside the UK;
- Where there is an international dimension to the matter in which we are advising you.

These transfers are subject to special rules under UK data protection law.

We will ensure the transfer complies with data protection law and all personal data will be secure. Our standard practice is to use standard data protection contract clauses.

If you would like further information please contact us.
